Met with Saptarshi and Jessica Miller from the Kitchen Literacy Project about doing classes in the MakerSpace that would bring in New Americans and local chefs to teach classes, while encouraging participation by our patrons at Central.
Delivery Jesse	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. During March our staff helped get new computers to multiple branches and coordinate delivery times to complete installs. 2. In preparation for the upcoming eclipse, drivers have been handing out “Eclipse stickers” to patrons/children in an effort to promote events. Thank you to the member services and communications teams for providing these. 3. We have concluded our interviews for our part time page position and hope to have our choice candidate start in April. 	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. The month of April will bring the start of our busy season. We have coordinated tents distributions for our upcoming library events and table displays. 2. Our staff is looking forward to staff development day at the Zoo. This will be a first for some of our staff. 3. New page!

Quote from Fayetteville patron (Used with permission): “I went to the Salina Library 18 months ago and got my very first house plant at a free plant swap. I borrowed a book from Cicero Branch and learned to care for and propagate it. I borrowed more books across the catalog system and items to help me find new hobbies, ways to slow down, and appreciate things to
